CHANGES IN FACULTY OF RICHMOND COLLEGE

Prof. Mitchell Goes to Brown University for Year, but Will Return.

FOUSHEE TO PRACTICE LAW

Dr. Winston Retires from Chair of Physics—Will Continue to Teach Astronomy.

With the close of this session, now near at hand, will come some of the most important changes that have occurred in the faculty of Richmond College in many years. The board of trustees will meet on June 9th, and though no official announcement will be made before that time, the facts are well understood in the college circles.

Former Governor A. J. Montague has resigned as dean of the law school, and will devote himself entirely hereafter to the practice of law. Dr. W. L. Foushee, who took his degree in law last year, has given up the chair of Latin, and will also practice law in this city. These two professors are not only severing their connection with the college, but are leaving the teaching profession entirely.

To Be Divided. Professor C. H. Winston, who for thirty-five years has occupied the chair of physics and astronomy, will be elected emeritus professor of physics and astronomy, and will also be elected professor of astronomy. The two subjects have been separated, and hereafter be taught by two professors. Dr. Winston, who is so well known throughout the State as a student of the heavens and as a lecturer on solar and sidereal subjects, will have full charge of the department of astronomy. A professor of physics, who will also be in charge of the physical laboratories, will be elected by the trustees in June.

Leaving for One Year.

An announcement of the greatest interest is that Dr. S. C. Mitchell, professor of history, has accepted an invitation from Brown University to teach in the history department of that institution next session. Dr. Mitchell, it is understood, will in part supply the places of Professors Wilson and Macdonald, who are both on a year's leave of absence. Professor Wilson has been appointed on a commission from the United States to formulate a maritime code, in conjunction with representatives from other great powers. Professor Macdonald goes to Harvard to supply for Professor A. B. Hart, who will be absent for a year on a trip around the world. It seems that Harvard borrows from Brown and Brown from Richmond.

Dr. Mitchell has no thought of severing his connection with the college, but intends to occupy his residence and resume his class work after one year. It has been ten years since he had a leave of absence from this length of time. He feels that the trip will be beneficial to him and to his classes.

Has Done Good Work.

Dr. Winston gives up a part of his labors, and is made professor emeritus of physics after having served the college longer than any other member of the faculty. Previous to accepting his place in the faculty here he was assistant professor of ancient languages at Hampden-Sydney College, Transylvania University, and was president of the Richmond Female Institute from 1855 to 1873. As superintendent of the Confederate Chemical Works, at Charlotte, N. C., during the Civil War, as president of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, as a lecturer on scientific and religious subjects, and as a constant worker in the summer schools of Virginia and North Carolina, he has exerted a widespread influence in building the character of the youth of both sexes. His work at Richmond College is well known.

Sorry to Lose Them.

Dr. Foushee, who vacates the chair of Latin, has been most successful, as a teacher in Richmond and elsewhere. He was graduated from Wake Forest College with the degree of A. M. in 1884, and from Johns Hopkins University in 1890 with the degree of Ph. D. The brilliant record made by Mr. Montague as an orator and a statesman is too well known to call for comment. He came to the college as professor of law in the September following his term as Governor of the State. During his professorship his work has been as successful as his political career. He leaves the college only because his law practice is too heavy for

CRITICIZE CITY'S PLAN OF RELIEF

Report Shows That It Cost Department $824 to Distribute Meal Valued at $1,492.

WILLIAMS WANTED CHANGE

Failed, However, to Get Through Motion to Transfer Fund to Associated Charities.

Charges that the Department of Public Charities does not understand the principle of economy, so far, at least, as concerns the distribution of meal, were made last night at a meeting of a subcommittee of Relief of the Poor by Mr. Graham B. Hobson and Dr. Ennon C. Williams, the report of Superintendent Davis being used as a basis for the complaint. It was shown that it cost the city $824 to distribute meal valued at $1,492, figures so greatly out of proportion when compared with the percentage of expense in regular charitable organizations, that there was a strong demand for a change in the municipal methods of relief.

Would Give It to Association. Simply, as he said, to put the members on record, and to show that outside societies have a better understanding of such work, Dr. Williams proposed a resolution, providing that in view of the record the meal house on Broad Street be discontinued and the amount appropriated for that purpose be turned over to the Associated Charities. The resolution will never see the light of day in Council.

Resolved, That in view of the fact, as shown by the annual report of the Superintendent, that it cost the city $824 to distribute meal valued at $1,492, that the plan now to effect be discontinued, and the equivalent sum given to the Associated Charities. Though it might appear to outsiders that this suggestion was innocent enough, it was vigorously opposed, evidently on the ground that it cast grave reflections upon the city's business and managing ability in charitable work.

Put Members on Record. "I shall insist upon this motion," said Dr. Williams, "and you can vote it down if you see fit, but I hereby declare myself and insist upon the motion being a part of the record. It costs the Associated Charities far less to carry on its relief work. It is better able to have control, with a far better system of ascertaining what are worthy cases."

Superintendent Davis took exception to this statement. Dr. Williams said, however, that it was merely a difference of opinion.

In answer to Mr. Davis's question, he said that he was not now a director of the Associated Charities. The proposition was a bit too radical for members. Mr. Gunst and Mr. Mitchell opposing it. Mr. Gunst offered a substitute providing that some other means of distribution be devised. Finally, however, Mr. Mitchell took up the original Williams motion and got that through, thus defeating the Associated Charities proposition, but abolishing the palatial meal house on Broad Street. The plan will be sent to the full committee for approval or rejection, and then through the cumbersome channels to Council.

STOPPED AUTO TO CAPTURE BEES

Dr. McAnally Got Swarm in Fifth Street While Crowd Looked On.

AFRAID TO CUT LIMB

Tolled Honey-Makers Into Box, Covered It With Sack and Whirled Away.

While speeding his automobile through North Fifth Street, near Franklin, yesterday afternoon, Dr. S. A. McAnally heard the familiar humming of bees, and suddenly slipped on the brakes to investigate. Looking up into one of the smaller trees he saw a bushel of the busy creatures hanging on a limb. Other people were around, but Dr. McAnally saw them first, and practical experience convinced him that it was easy fruit.

With a big crocus sack he went up the tree with the agility of a squirrel, but was unable to land them. In a few moments, however, he had secured a wooden box, which was placed just above the honey-makers, and as they had no better sense, they immediately went in for shelter.

That part of the sport being ended, the physician drove off, leaving the box in the tree. The bees, however, were not so easily satisfied. They began to swarm, and the young bees began to swarm. There is not sufficient room in the old home, and it is the same story of the mother-in-law.

Two to one that you didn't get the queen," shouted a black farmer who watched the performance. "If she got away you'd never have any honey," a fact which is recognized by all bee culture. Where the bees came from was a mystery to the large crowd which gathered when the doctor started up the tree. Along in the spring the young bees begin to swarm. There is not sufficient room in the old home, and it is the same story of the mother-in-law. The bees, however, were not so easily satisfied. They began to swarm, and the young bees began to swarm. There is not sufficient room in the old home, and it is the same story of the mother-in-law.

POSED AS WASHERWOMAN

Susan Smith, Colored, Charged With Stealing Out of Clothing. Susan Smith, colored, is under lock and key, charged with having stolen a lot of clothing from various people, which she posed as a fine washerwoman. She was arrested on Monday night by Bicycle Policeman Smith, at the request of the police office men, but was unable to appear in the Police Court yesterday morning, owing to a severe hemorrhage she suffered in the stomach-house.

CAME HERE TO WED

Maryland Girl Met North Carolina. With the approval of Judge Witt, a license to wed was issued yesterday to Lewis H. Griffin, of Martin county, N. C., and Miss Estlin Acton, eighteen years old, of Prince George county, Md. The girl came here to meet her fiancé, but as she was not of marriageable age, Judge Witt had to give his consent to the match. Miss Acton purchased her wedding outfit yesterday morning. Then she and Mr. Griffin went away to have the ceremony performed, leaving the city later for the groom's home in North Carolina.

Stole Bottle of Milk.

Joseph Rea, a white boy, was charged in the Police Court yesterday morning with stealing a bottle of milk from the residence at No. 414 West Grace Street. The milk was the property of the Richmond Dairy Company, and was valued at 5 cents. The boy was put under $100 security for thirty days.

Mr. Goulder Recovering.

Mr. Goulder, of Richmond, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Retreat for the Sick on Saturday, was reported last night to be improving rapidly. He is not able yet, however, to see his friends.

MANGLED BODY FOUND ON TRACK

Coroner Unable to Tell Last Night Whether It Was White Man or Negro.

Horribly crushed and mangled, the body of a young man, either a light mulatto or a very swarthy foreigner, was found on the tracks of the Southern Railway, near Seventeenth Street, just north of the dock, early this morning. Almost every portion of the trunk was crushed, but the face was not mangled. It is supposed that the unfortunate man was stealing a ride on one of the trains, and fell beneath the wheels. There were no letters on his person or anything else by which he might have been identified. The body was placed by Coroner Taylor, and later was moved to a nearby undertaking establishment. The inquest will be held this morning.

DOCTORS MEET

Discuss Paper of Dr. Horsley and Elect Two New Members.

At the meeting of the Richmond Academy of Medicine and Surgery last night Dr. J. Shelton Horsley read a paper on "The Operation for Removal of Growths in the Neck," exhibiting specimens, which were examined by all the physicians present. The paper was discussed by Drs. J. W. Henson, W. W. Dunn and C. M. Miller. Dr. Henson reported a case and exhibited a patient. The case was observed and discussed by Dr. Miller, W. F. Mercer, A. L. Gray and Mark L. Poyser.

The business part of the meeting was occupied with the election of Dr. Paul F. Redd and R. W. Fitzgerald as members of the academy.

CITY SUSTAINED IN MULE CASES

Judge Ingram Orders Wharton to Pay Costs of Levying on Municipal Property.

Holding that property of the city necessary for the performance of governmental functions cannot be levied upon by creditors, Judge Ingram yesterday laid down the law to the effect that Sheriff Epps had no right to attach three mules in the proceedings instituted by A. D. Wharton and others, and ordered that Wharton, and not the city, must pay the costs. Mr. Wharton held a claim of long standing. The mules were technically seized on May 14th. It happened that the money in payment of the claim was placed with the City Auditor the day previous, without the fact being known to the claimant. Assistant City Attorney Anderson contended that the seizure was unlawful, and that the city was not liable for the costs. The legal fight, therefore, was simply upon the question of costs, the court fully sustaining the point made by Colonel Anderson.

Annual Sermon to Pickett Camp.

Pickett Camp, Confederate Veterans, will attend services at the Second Baptist Church on Sunday night, when the annual sermon to the veterans will be preached. The camp will also attend the May 27th Memorial services on June 3d.

HEAVY TRAVEL TO FOREIGN POINTS

More Than 100 Richmond People Engage Passage on Steamers Sailing in June.

More than 100 local people have booked passage for European points on steamers scheduled to leave the York and Philadelphia within the next thirty days. To prove that there is no financial depression hereabout, Mr. Samuel H. Bowman, the steamship and tourist agent, said yesterday that the business for January 1st to date was 16 per cent greater than for the entire year of 1907, the 1907 record being 25 per cent greater than that for the previous year. "Although the fact that a person can spend thirty days abroad as cheaply as he can make himself comfortable at Atlantic City for the same period has much to do with this traveling activity," said Mr. Bowman. "What impresses me most when I examine the books is the fact that the conditions generally in Richmond are prosperous."

"You could not expect to find a large exodus to Europe along with the cry of hard times. From what the railroad people tell me, the excursion business this summer will be up to the usual high mark, which is another evidence that Richmond does not feel the aftereffect of a season of depression."

The Rev. Thomas C. Darst and the Rev. W. L. Kinsolving and Mrs. Kinsolving will sail on the Friendship from Philadelphia on Saturday. The Rev. F. W. Neve and Miss Pauline Neve will sail on the Mauretania from New York on June 3d. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bryan are booked for passage on the Carmania, from New York, on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Martin sail on the Teutonic on June 10th.

Acen Temple Excursion.

The Arab Patrol, of Acen Temple, will give a moonlight excursion down the river on June 30th. The evening's program will include music and recitations. Many members are preparing to attend the national convention at St. Paul in July, and it is possible that the Arab Patrol may go in a body.

NOTHING TO DO, THEY SAW SHOW

With nothing else to do, and apparently fascinated by the white lights of Broad Street, the Council Committee on Electricity decided last night to investigate the moving picture theatres, to determine whether or not the man operating the machine was on to his job. While in session the committee adopted an ordinance to the effect that no person shall operate these devices in public places unless he has passed an examination and has received a diploma, or permit, showing that he understands the business. Failure to comply will subject the owner of the theatre to a fine of from $2 to $25 a day.

These resorts have come in for much attention here of late, said Councilman Don Leavy, "and I think we had better inspect them in our official capacity when it suits us." The motion was adopted. Members of the Council who handle white lightning officially thought it would be a good plan and better amusement look over the Colonial last night. They wanted to see the wheel go around, just as they wanted to be caught in the picture themselves. Accordingly they liked out, City Electrician Thompson leading, and Councilman Don Leavy running him in. They went to the flying squadron reached Eighth Street. They stood the ticket-taker on his head and went in without crumpled excitement.

The committee will ramble again tonight.

BOYS' ALLIANCE FOR RICHMOND

Permanent Organization Effected at Meeting Held Last Night.

Leaders in the movement for a permanent organization of workers among boys were greatly encouraged at the large attendance present and the enthusiasm manifested at the meeting held last night at the Second Presbyterian Church for the purpose of perfecting an association. Besides a great many boys, there were a large number of charity workers and other persons interested in philanthropic movements, and before the conference had adjourned an organization was formed, and bids fair to be of greater value to the younger boys of the city than any society now in existence.

At a preliminary meeting held some time ago a committee was appointed to look to the permanent organization of a boys' alliance in this city. Last night the committee made its report, suggesting lines along which the work should be carried out, and stating that after a careful study of the question, members had reached the conclusion that such an organization was a necessity.

Thereupon the following officers were elected: Mr. R. T. Christian, president; Mr. W. Y. Reithard, vice-president; Mr. R. T. Lecky, secretary; and Mr. Simpson, treasurer. The alliance decided to hold three meetings a year. At one of these outside persons interested in charity work among boys will be invited to deliver addresses. The other two will be devoted entirely to hearing the reports of the committee appointed by the local organization, and to discussion among members.

It is not the purpose of the alliance to interfere with any work already started among boys, such as that of the St. Andrew's Society and the Covenanters. It will operate along lines where the greatest good can be accomplished regardless of denomination or creed.
